Ongoing Charity Event At Denver's Second Creek Raceway Has Raised $55,000

From a press release:

Racing to Save Lives is Kicking Strong on Hump Day

Wednesday, June 23, 2004 -- Racing to Save Lives kicked off on Monday in the wet, but the cause of helping five separate children's charities kept the numbers strong. Coming into the event the Racing to Save Lives organizers were proud to state that the event had generated over $40,000.00 and committed over 60 riders to the track this week.

Going into hump day, a clear crisp beautiful day for riding, the Racing to Save Lives organizers have the mile total at 5232, with the goal of 20,000 miles still attainable. Between goods and financial contributions, they are currently at $55,000, while that goal is $250,000.00. There were different ways to pledge to the event. You could pledge a flat donation, or a dynamic donation based on laps/miles completed. Provided the weather holds up, Racing to Save Lives is looking forward to a strong finish.

It's not too late to get involved.
